Introduction

BXB's dealer Audio Trading Company (ATC) established in 1998, dealing with consultations and executing projects related to acoustic design. Since 2005, ATC has been mainly working on integrated systems that involve not only acoustic processing, sound isolation, recording, intelligent lighting, and entire automation of the projects and complete design and execution as well.

ATC founder and CEO, Georgi Hlebarov, starts his career in 1975 acquiring knowledge and skills, followed by many years working at the Department of Acoustics, and National Palace of Culture in Sofia, managing of diverse audio projects. Recently, led by Georgi Hlebarov, ATC team successfully installed BXB EDC-1000 series in government organization in Bulgaria. The main inquiry was good design, cost-effective and reliable conference system, therefore, based on customer demand ATC team offered BXB's EDC-1000 series without any doubt.

BXB Solution

The project included one EDC-1051 main control unit, table-top EDC-1011 chairman unit 1, EDC-1012 delegates unit 24, along with other accessories. EDC microphone concept came from the stabilization and warmness of “Home”, which appearance adopted the inclined roof generally seen in Chinese traditional residences. The countersink on each unit follows the shape of a butterfly. The butterfly is not only the original concept of BXB logo but can be the association of the double-fortune signal. We wish to inspire the atmosphere of steady and harmonious to conference events. For project completion, ATC team installed Extron power amplifier, DSP matrix, and Omnitronic speakers.

Customer Feedback

Mr. George emphasizes that “We had been started our cooperation with BXB long time ago and installed several projects before, therefore, we acknowledged their conference system quality. This time also grateful to cooperate and my customer is 100% satisfied”.

We believe that our collaboration brings more advanced and successful projects in near future in Bulgaria. Thank you ATC team, we will be always your trustworthy partner.
